STUDENT NEWS

Fall Banquet

The annual fall banquet of the Student Chapter of the Jr. A.V.M.A. was held in the Sun Room of the Memorial Union on the 28th of September, 1966.

This was the first opportunity for the Student Chapter to welcome the members of the freshman class and for them to become more familiar with the activities of the organization. The freshmen also had a chance to get acquainted with other class members and to meet the faculty.

Robert Bishop served as master of ceremonies and introduced the featured speaker, James Schwartz, Professor and Head of the Department of Technical Journalism at Iowa State. Professor Schwartz gave a very interesting talk entitled Communist Propaganda Techniques.

Dean Kitchell introduced the heads of the various departments of Veterinary Medicine who in turn introduced their staff members. Dean Kitchell also made the Borden Award presentation to Arthur Lage. John Andrews, president-elect, presented Charles Ruehle with the Merle B. Anderson Achievement Award for outstanding service rendered to the Student Chapter and the VETERINARIAN.

Gary Bolton, chairman of the banquet committee, is to be congratulated for his work in providing a fine fall banquet.

AVMA Convention

John Thomson and D. Hank Harris, seniors in the College of Veterinary Medicine, were the Jr. AVMA's delegates from Iowa State to attend the 103rd annual National AVMA convention held at Louisville, Kentucky, July 10-14.

Activity started immediately at 8:00 a.m. on Sunday, July 10, with a student breakfast at which all the student chapter delegates and student auxiliary chapter delegates got acquainted. The next few days consisted of meetings, workshops or luncheons with the other delegates or in conjunction with the other auxiliary delegates.

Two of the highlights of the Convention occurred at the Plenary Session. The first was the opportunity to hear a very informative and interesting speech by Chet Huntley of the NBC news staff, who spoke on the situation in Viet Nam. The other highlight was the presentation of the Gaines Award to Dr. Philip Pearson of Iowa State University, who was cited for his contribution to the advancement of small animal medicine.

The delegates also attended several educational sessions and toured the professional exhibits. These they feel were very educational and rewarding. John and Hank wish to thank the Student Chapter for the opportunity to represent them at the convention.

Omega Tau Sigma

The men of Kappa Chapter of Omega Tau Sigma had a pleasant surprise waiting for them when they returned to classes this fall. Due largely to the work of the chapter treasurer, Charles Ruehle, the entire living room was carpeted and new furniture was on the way. About one-half of the furniture has arrived and the rest is expected by the end of October. The kitchen was also completely remodeled with new cupboards, a large stainless steel sink, a stove, and a new set of cooking utensils. A cook was hired and meals are now being served at the house.

On October ninth OTS activated three new members and pledged thirty new men. These pledges will replace the seniors who graduated last spring.

Four of the members will attend the National Convention of Omega Tau Sigma Fraternity this October at Pennsylvania State University. They will present a chapter progress report and exchange ideas with the other OTS chapter delegations.

Merrill B. Anderson Award

Chuck Ruehle, V.M. 4, received the Merrill B. Anderson Award, a $25 scholarship certificate. It is given in recognition of contributions to the Student Chapter of the Jr. A.V.M.A. and the ISU Veterinarian.

Chuck has been very active in the ISU Veterinarian and is serving his fourth year on the publication board. This year he is chairman of the board.

Chuck has also served as head of the public relations committee on the Jr. A.V.M.A.

Many thanks go to Chuck for his energetic ways toward the Student Chapter and the Veterinarian.

Art Lage

Borden Award

Each year the Borden Company honors a member of the senior class in the veterinary college with the Borden Award. This award, a check for $300, goes to the veterinary student who has attained the highest cumulative grade point average at the end of his junior year in the veterinary curriculum.

The award for 1966 was received by Arthur Lage, V.M. 4. Art has also been honored with the Outstanding Scholarship Recognition Award here at Iowa State for the last three years, the Burton C. Thomson Award, the Merck Manual Award and the Alpha Zeta Scholarship Award. While in vet school Art has taken an active part in the ISU Honors Program and is now serving as a small animal editor of the ISU Veterinarian. Art has also found time to join Phi Zeta, the veterinary medicine honorary, Alpha Zeta, agriculture honorary, and Phi Gamma Delta, Greek social fraternity.
